

Family Dynamics and Deviant Behaviour: Cultural and Historical Prospect

Abstract

The article represents the results of a sociological study on family situation in the Krasnoyarsk Krai. It is indicated that there are significant changes in the family functions, especially those related to the population reproduction and giving upbringing to their children. This leads to an increase in deviant behavior among teenagers and young people. Rural family is changing especially rapidly. All this requires a change in family policy and its focus on compensation of the functions that are not performed by a family.

Keywords: family; family policy; family functions; upbringing; socialization; family policy; social institution; financial situation; living conditions; femininity; masculinity; generation.